Welcome to Kichijoji

Located about 15 min. from Shinjuku or Shibuya, Kichijoji is surrounded by multiple shopping buildings, commercial streets, restaurants, fashionable sundry goods shops, and other unique shops. Dotted with jazz coffee shops and live houses, Kichijoji is famous as the home of many creators and the birthplace of subcultures. It has also given rise to many works of animation. Inokashira Park, an urban oasis, offers enjoyment including boats and art markets. Kichijoji is a town where the diverse elements of fashion, gourmet dining, culture, and nature come together.

Best Spots

Statue of Hanako 😰 This is a new famous spot in the Kichijoji Station North Exit plaza. Raised in Inokashira Park Zoo, Hanako the elephant was beloved by many. At the end of her 69 years, the statue was erected with contributions from around Japan and with funds from Hanako's home country of Thailand. The sight of Hanako, with her length of 2.5 m, her right front leg off the ground, and her long trunk raised in greeting, makes the statue a popular photo spot.

Harmonica Yokocho 😰 Harmonica Yokocho is an area of shop-filled narrow alleys, just outside the North Exit of Kichijoji Station. In this space, every day is like a festival The diverse jumble of small shops bustle with people, creating a deep, retro view of the world that takes you back to the Showa Period. The mood is that of Asian street stalls or a night market. Visitors can have fun at Harmonica Yokocho day or night.

Inokashira Park

This suburban park, with Inokashira Pond at its center, greeted its 100th anniversary in 2017. Surrounded by trees, it is truly an urban oasis.

The park encompasses famous locations such as the Inokashira Benzaiten shrine, and is enjoyed by people of all ages who visit to enjoy walks throughout the seasons. It preserves precious nature amid residential and commercial areas, providing local people with a place for relaxation.

Inokashira Park Zoo (Main park 8-4 • Park annex 6-4) his zoo raises many animals native to Japan, making special efforts toward the breeding of the Amur cat and other rare species. In addition to the zoo is an amusement park and a park with works by sculptor Seibo Kitamura.

The park annex on the Inokashira Pond side is a park for aquatic life, and contains a freshwater fish aquarium. Breeding activities also take place, focused on water fowl k hours: 9:30-17:00 (entrance until 16:00) Entrance fee: Adults ¥400(Annual Passport ¥1600) the Edo Period, the god Benzaiten gathered worshipers as a god of entertainment and as the water god at the source of the Kanda Aqueduct. The shrine became a resort spot for the people of Edo. On stone lanterns and other objects, vou'll find the names of Edo Period merchants who were involved in water.
